Diocese-Wide Food Relay: Six Food Pantries, Six Catholic High Schools, One Day

As Part of Catholic Charities' 40 Days of Francis countdown campaign to the Pope's arrival in Philadelphia, the Diocese-wide food relay will enlist the help of Diocesan high schools to deliver a food donation to its six food pantries across South Jersey in a single day in honor of Pope Francis.

Just 12 days before the Pope's arrival in Philadelphia, Catholic Charities, Diocese of Camden will hold one of its most dynamic events yet as part of 40 Days of Francis: a Diocese-Wide Food Relay in honor of the Pope.

On Monday, September 14, a donation of $1500-worth of food made by Charles D. Grimley, III, President and CEO of Grimley Financial Corporation, will be distributed in a single day among the six food pantries operated by Catholic Charities in each of the six South Jersey counties it serves. To do so, they have enlisted the help of the six Diocesan Catholic high schools.

"During 40 Days of Francis, we've tried to help our parishioners and communities prepare for the visit of Pope Francis by learning more about the poverty in our region," said Kevin Hickey, executive director of Catholic Charities. "With this relay, we wanted to get our Diocesan high school students involved. What better way to prepare for the visit of the Holy Father than a day in service to those in our Diocese who are hungry?"

The journey will begin at 8 a.m. with a kickoff ceremony at the agency's office in Camden. Bishop Dennis Sullivan of the Catholic Diocese of Camden will offer the opening prayer. High school students and Catholic Charities staff will then load the truck with food and send it to the first of its six stops. At each stop, the truck will be greeted by students from a different high school, who will unload the food and help stock the food pantry's shelves. Before sending the truck to its next stop, students will attach a piece of school pride, making the truck a festive "baton" representing all of the schools that have helped along its journey.

The food will help assist the more than 5,000 people who receive food services through Catholic Charities each year.

“We see charity as an essential responsibility in the corporate world. For 30 years, service has been an important part of our corporate identity, and Pope Francis’ message reinforces our commitment to supporting those struggling in our community,” said Charles Grimley of Grimley Financial Corporation. “We hope to encourage other corporations to embrace the same spirit of giving, as the requisite need has never been greater.”
